

ELI Membership

to protect the environment

ELI membership provides trusted professional resources designed to support the environmental community and equip you with the tools you need to address our planet's most pressing challenges.

Accessing Resources

- Regular Insights: We provide our members with two helpful and timely updates on the field, (1) weekly summaries of upcoming educational events, professional development opportunities, job listings, and industry alerts, and (2) attorney-edited summaries of the latest environmental cases, laws, and regulations in your inbox three times a month.
- In-Depth Analysis: As a valued member, you'll gain access to our acclaimed publications. The award-winning Environmental Forum and the highly cited Environmental Law Reporter provide evidence-based research and in-depth analysis, empowering professionals across all sectors with inspiration and knowledge to address today's more pressing environmental challenges.
- Research Tools: ELI members have access to the Environmental Law Reporter's comprehensive digital database, an essential resource for environmental law and policy research. Explore an extensive archive of cases, guidance and policy documents, DOJ consent decrees, expert research and commentary, dating back to the genesis of many of our environmental laws in 1970.
- On Demand Education: ELI hosts webinars throughout the year covering a broad range of relevant and emergent environmental issues. ELI members have exclusive access to our webinar archive, giving you on-demand access to world class webinars that bring together industry leaders, legal and policy experts, and community partners. Members also gain access to members-only webinars, which currently include monthly briefings on Climate Change and more.
- Environmental Law Boot Camps: Gain complimentary or heavily discounted access to ELI's highly regarded Environmental Law Boot Camps. These sessions provide up to 20 units of CLE credit, offering a comprehensive overview of the fundamentals of environmental law and policy -- ideal for enhancing your or your staff's professional expertise!

Building Community

- Expand Your Network: For over 50 years, ELI has been uniting professionals and institutions across sectors, driven by the belief that collaboration is key to creating a thriving future for both people and the planet. As a valued ELI member, you'll join a powerful community of changemakers gaining exclusive opportunities to connect, share insights, and engage with thought leaders who are shaping the future of environmental law and policy. You will be listed in the searchable ELI Member Directory, able to share resources and postings via the weekly newsletter, and meet peers at online and in-person events.
- Share Your Expertise: As a recognized leader in your field, you'll be among the first invited to share your insights and co-host impactful events, reaching dedicated professionals and inspiring meaningful change.
- Recognize Your Commitment: ELI values your partnership and is proud to recognize our institutional members on both the ELI website and in the Annual Report.
